

Well, God finally did it; He showed one of us what the world looked like before Noah's Flood!

On 2/12/2023, while hanging out in my garage, the Lord showed me a vision of what Earth looked like before the Great Flood of Noah's day.

This pamphlet will give you the skinny on it.

Layers

It's all about the layers. At least, that's how God showed it to me; in layers. What I saw was a cutaway view of Earth, like in the image below left (this page, first panel). The opposite side shows a more colorful and informative illustration.

Water Layer

One amazing aspect about the pre-flood Earth, was this layer of fresh, hot water between two rock spheres: the Crust Bedrock (containing it); and the Mantle below. The Bedrock supported all life living on the soil above it. There was no life in the Water Layer. It was too hot and in motion. Plus, it would have been pitch black, without one bit of light.

The Flood

Something (a celestial object impacting us where Iceland is today?) caused the Crust to fracture and fall into the Water Layer upon the Mantle. Fortunately, the Mantle was also fractured and bled lava onto its fractured surface, under/on the collapsing Bedrock. That escaping lava made the foundations of the continents of today. It caught the mud that used to be the soil and held it and baked it into rock with its heat. The "flood" was all land falling out from under everything on the surface into scalding, moving water.

God Rocks Geophysics!

Noah's Flood was not what you thought it was. The reality was that everything on the surface went down as far as a couple of miles into scalding, violently moving water and mud. Yes, violently moving water, from the explosion that brought the Crust Layer down into the Great Deep. This changes everything we thought we knew about This Broken Planet and turns Geophysics on its ear. Read the whole presentation in my book, This Broken Planet [Earth's beginning and end, and its unseen Water Layer]. It's available for free to read on my website, with no strings attached.
